

Abstrak

Wasilatil Maghfirah. 2022. The Effect of English Speaking ractice on the Road to Increase Students' Motivation. Undergraduate Thesis. S1 English Education Study Program. Faculty of Teacher Training and Education. Universitas Nahdlatul Ulama Surabaya. Advisor: Tiyas Saputri, S.S., M.Pd.

One of the key components of language instruction is speaking ability because oral communication is demanded of students in everyday life. However, the hardest aspect for the teachers is getting the students to actively participate in speaking activities. Making the students utilize the language verbally in their daily communication is one of the most challenging components of language learning for the teacher. This study observed 32 students' speaking achievement before and after English speaking practice on the road, which was determined to be a Strategy that explored students' inventiveness and increased their speaking ability. Data analysis related to the students' speaking abilities using qualitative research. The study's findings confirmed that speaking practice on the road was proven greatly facilitated students speaking skill. It can help the students' motivation increase and their self-confidence.

Keywords: Speaking practice on the road, Students' Motivation